

Subhash Raje
Assistant Professor
Faculty – Managerial Economics and International Business
Rizvi Institute of Management Studies & Research

Subhash Raje is into academics for over four decades now. In his rich academic journey, Raje has been associated with various educational institutions in multiple capacities. He was Vice Principal of Bhavan's H.S. College before he retired from there in 2007. Prior to becoming Vice Principal, he was also the Head of Economics Department of the Institute. During this period, he also served as the head of unaided courses.

Post his retirement from Bhavan's H.S. College, Raje was associated with Mumbai Institute of Management and Research till 2011 and subsequently has been a core faculty with Rizvi Institute of Management Studies and Research, teaching subjects like Managerial Economics and International Business. Raje is also a visiting faculty across management institutes like Welingkar Institute of Management and Research, S.P. Jain Institute of Management, Chetana Institute of Management and Research among others.

Apart from teaching, Raje also undertook assignments with Government of Maharashtra to help them do a Cost-Benefit Analysis for Renewable Sources of Energy. He has also conducted workshops on application of mathematics in economics for academicians. He is also a co-author of the book "Founders of Political Economy and Economic Systems" and has also prepared work-book for Micro and Macro Economics for S.P. Jain Management Institute.

Academically, Raje holds an MA in Advanced Economics and Econometrics from Mumbai University and Masters in Administrative Management from Jamanalal Bajaj Institute of Management.